Welcome to APPA’s Member Resource Digest, a concise package of member tools and information to help you better serve your communities. Please send your feedback to Info@PublicPower.org; we want to ensure we are meeting your needs.

Top Resources

APPA continues to advocate for public power’s priorities in a future COVID bill with our top priority being the inclusion of a forgivable loan program for public power utilities impacted by customer non-payments due to COVID. While many public power utilities may never need to use this loan program, given the uncertainty of how long the pandemic will last and the economy is in recession, we believe it is important that it exists for those who may need it that are located in communities hard hit by COVID. We strongly encourage all APPA members to reach out to their senators and representatives to express support for the inclusion of this language in the COVID package should negotiations resume.

APPA created this infographic to illustrate the numerous COVID-related activities/resources we are providing to public power during these trying times. Members can access our latest COVID-19 resources here.

APPA members can access the Association’s latest COVID-19 resources here.

APPA has launched a library of on-demand training, including conferences, workshops and webinars, to allow members to stay on top of the trends, challenges and solutions impacting our industry at their own time-frame and pace.

APPA put together talking points on hurricane preparedness and mutual aid during a pandemic that you can use for customer and stakeholder communications.

APPA and LexisNexis are hosting a free sponsored webinar for members on August 20 at 2 PM EST on Secure, Frictionless Customer Service During COVID-19 and Beyond.

It’s never too soon to start preparing for Public Power Week (Oct. 4-10). APPA has assembled resources and templates to help you prepare.

Top News

From Public Power Daily: APPA urges members to reach out to lawmakers in support of forgivable loan program

From Public Power Daily: Public power crews assist IOUs with power restoration efforts

If you have any questions or feedback, please don’t hesitate to contact us at Info@PublicPower.org.