Florida Municipal Power Agency retired vice president of member services and public relations receives individual achievement award

Nashville, Tennessee, June 14, 2022 — Mark McCain, retired vice president of member services and public relations at the Florida Municipal Power Agency in Orlando, Florida, received the James D. Donovan Individual Achievement Award during the American Public Power Association's National Conference in Nashville, Tennessee. The award recognizes individuals who have made significant contributions to the electric utility industry and to public power.

Mark began his career with FMPA in 1986 as a communications specialist. During his career, Mark has provided communications counsel on challenging issues and events, developed strong relationships with elected officials and industry leaders, created a lasting brand for Florida public power, mentored teams to support the operations of small, medium, and large municipal utilities, and created programs to help members enhance services for customers. Mark served on various APPA committees including the Legislative & Resolutions Committee, and frequently attended APPA conferences. He recently retired from FMPA after more than 35 years of service.

The American Public Power Association is the voice of not-for-profit, community-owned utilities that power 2,000 towns and cities nationwide. We represent public power before the federal government to protect the interests of the more than 49 million people that public power utilities serve, and the 96,000 people they employ. Our association advocates and advises on electricity policy, technology, trends, training, and operations. Our members strengthen their communities by providing superior service, engaging citizens, and instilling pride in community-owned power.
