Bountiful City Light & Power director receives public power service award

Austin, Texas, June 11, 2019 —Allen Johnson, Light & Power Director of Bountiful City Light & Power in Bountiful, Utah, received the Harold Kramer-John Preston Personal Service Award at the American Public Power Association's national conference in Austin, Texas. This award recognizes individuals for their service to the American Public Power Association.

Johnson has been involved with the American Public Power Association for more than a decade. He frequently attends the Association's National Conference and Legislative Rally. Johnson is vice chair of the Association's Demonstration of Energy & Efficiency Developments program board. He has represented public power on Utah's Statewide Mutual Aid Committee since 2009. Allen helped to implement a database for cities, and to draft and review legislation on mutual aid and disaster relief.

The American Public Power Association is the voice of not-for-profit, community-owned utilities that power 2,000 towns and cities nationwide. We represent public power before the federal government to protect the interests of the more than 49 million people that public power utilities serve, and the 93,000 people they employ. Our association advocates and advises on electricity policy, technology, trends, training, and operations. Our members strengthen their communities by providing superior service, engaging citizens, and instilling pride in community-owned power.
