PUBLIC
POWER™
ASSOCIATION

Powering Strong Communities

On June 15, more than 150 electric utility executives attending the American Public Power Association's National Conference & Public Power Expo will share their time and talent with these deserving organizations at the Public Power Day of Giving:

Center for Sustainable Engagement & Development (CSED)

www.sustainthenine.org

The Lower 9th Ward CSED focuses on coastal rehabilitation, greening the built environment, and increasing food security. Volunteers at CSED will perform garden work and neighborhood cleanup activities.

SBP

www.sbpusa.org

SBP is a leader in disaster resilience and recovery, with a mission to shrink the time between disaster and recovery. Volunteers at SBP will help rebuild homes in a community devastated by Hurricane Katrina.

Second Harvest Food Bank

www.no-hunger.org

Second Harvest Food Bank of New Orleans is a private, nonprofit organization that collects, stores, and provides food and support to 700+ community partners and programs across 23 parishes in Louisiana. Volunteers at Second Harvest Food Bank will help inspect, sort, and repack food and grocery products.

Help us make a difference

AMERICAN
POWER
ASSOCIATION
Powering Strong Communities

What is the American Public Power Association?

We're the voice of not-for-profit, community-owned utilities that power 2,000 towns and cities nationwide. We represent public power before the federal government to protect the interests of the more than 49 million customers that public power utilities serve, and the 93,000 people they employ. Our association advocates and advises on electricity policy, technology, trends, training, and operations. Our members strengthen their communities by providing superior service, engaging citizens, and instilling pride in community-owned power.
